SPONSORSHIP OFFER

Dear Sir / Madam,

Together with the European Mycological Association, the Polish Mycological Society is organizing the 18th Congress of European Mycologists, which will be held in Warsaw and Białowieża, 16-21 of September 2019.

This conference will be attended by numerous mycological experts from all around Europe and other continents.

The purpose of this conference is to present the newest achievements in the field of modern, European and global mycological trends associated with not only fungi-dependent quality of environment, biodiversity, phytopathology, but also ecology and fungi conservation. The conference aims to promote applied mycology, biotechnology and the newest methods for studying fungi from the field of genomics, genetics and molecular biology, which will allow to better understand fungal biochemistry, physiology and importance of mycology in many business branches. The congress will give an opportunity for experience exchange and networking which will promote future, collaborative research projects. It will also be a scientific event focused on a comprehensive fungal biodiversity analysis in a variety of environments.

We offer:
